

Conditional Pardon.

142. It shall be lawful for the Magistrate, recording his reasons for the same, to tender a pardon to any one or more of the persons supposed to have been directly or indirectly concerned in or privy to the offence, on condition of his or their making a full, true, and fair disclosure of the whole of the circumstances within his or their knowledge relative to the crime committed, and any other person or persons concerned in the perpetration thereof.

143. If it shall appear to a Court of Session at the time of trial or to the Sudder Court as a Court of reference, that any person to whom a pardon may have been offered has not conformed to the conditions under which the pardon was tendered, either by wilfully concealing anything essential, or by giving false evidence or information, it shall be competent to such Court to direct the commitment of such person for trial; and any statement made by such party after the conditional pardon is tendered either before the Magistrate or the Court of Session may be used as evidence against such person.

144. In like manner it shall be competent to a Court of Session, at the time of trial, and also to the Sudder Court as a Court of reference, to instruct the Magistrate to tender a pardon to one or more persons supposed to have been directly or indirectly concerned in or privy to the offence, with the view of obtaining his or their evidence on the trial.

Bail.

145. Where any person shall appear or be brought before a Magistrate accused of any of the offences entered as not bailable in the Schedule, such person shall not be admitted to bail, if there appear reasonable grounds for believing that he has been guilty of the crime imputed to him; but if the evidence given in support of the accusation shall, in the opinion of the Magistrate, not be such as to raise a strong presumption of the guilt of the person accused and to require his committal, or such evidence shall be adduced on behalf of the person accused as shall in the opinion of the Magistrate weaken the presumption of his guilt, but there shall appear to the Magistrate in either of such cases to be sufficient ground for judicial enquiry into his guilt, the person accused shall be admitted to bail.

146. Where any person shall appear or be brought before a Magistrate accused of any of the offences entered as bailable in the Schedule, he shall be admitted to bail.

147. Where a Magistrate shall admit to bail any person accused or suspected of any offence, a recognizance in such sum of money as the Magistrate may think sufficient shall be entered into by the person so accused and one or more sureties, conditioned that such person shall attend during the preliminary enquiry, and if required, shall appear when called upon at the Court of Session to answer the charge.

148. If through mistake or fraud insufficient bail has been taken, or if the sureties become afterwards insufficient, the accused may be ordered by the Magistrate to find sufficient sureties, and in default may be committed to prison.

149. If the accused when called upon cannot find sureties, he shall be admitted to bail upon finding the same at any time afterwards before conviction.

150. After the recognizances shall have been duly entered into, the Magistrate, in case the accused shall have appeared voluntarily, or shall be in the custody of some Officer, shall thereupon discharge him; and in case he shall be in some prison or other place of confinement, shall issue a warrant of discharge to the jailor or other person having him in his custody, who shall thereupon liberate him.

151. The sureties for any person may at any time apply to the Magistrate to be discharged from their engagements, whereupon the Magistrate shall issue his warrant directing that the person be brought before him. On the appearance of the person pursuant to the warrant or on his voluntary surrender, the Magistrate shall direct the recognizances of the sureties to be discharged, and shall call upon the person to find other sureties, and in default may order him to be committed to prison.

152. Whenever by reason of default of appearance of the party executing the personal recognizance, the Magistrate shall be of opinion that proceedings should be had to compel payment of the penalty mentioned in the recognizance, he shall proceed to enforce the penalty by the attachment and sale of the property of such party.

153. Whenever by reason of default of appearance by the party bailed, the Magistrate shall be of opinion that proceedings should be had to compel payment of the penalty mentioned in the recognizance of the surety or sureties, he shall give notice to the surety or sureties to pay the same, or to show cause why it should not be paid; and, if no sufficient cause shall be shown, the Magistrate shall proceed to recover the penalty from such surety or sureties by the attachment and sale of any of his or their property, and if the penalty be not paid and cannot be recovered by such attachment and sale, such surety or sureties shall be liable to confinement, by order of the Magistrate, in the Civil jail, during a period not exceeding six months.

Warrant of Commitment.

154. Every warrant for the commitment of a person to custody shall be directed to some jailor, keeper, or other Officer or person having authority to receive and keep prisoners, either, by his name or official description, and shall be in the form (C) given in the Appendix or to the like effect.

155. The warrant of commitment shall be lodged with the jailor, if he be in the jail; and if he be not, with his deputy; and if he has no deputy, it may be lodged with any Officer of the jail then being in the jail.

Adjournment.

156. If from the absence of witnesses or from any other reasonable cause, it shall become necessary or advisable to defer the examination, or further examination, of witnesses for any time, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate, by a written order, from time to time to adjourn the enquiry, and to remand the person accused for such time as shall be deemed reasonable, not exceeding fifteen days; provided also that, instead of detaining the accused person in custody during the period for which he shall be so remanded, the Magistrate may discharge him, upon his entering into a recognizance, with or without a surety or sureties, at the discretion of such Magistrate, conditioned for his appearance before the Magistrate at the time and place appointed for the continuance of such examination.

Discharge of the Accused.

157. When a Magistrate finds that there are not sufficient grounds for putting the accused person on his trial on a formal charge, or for remanding him, he shall discharge him.

Commitment &c., of the Accused for Trial.

158. When evidence has been given before a Magistrate which appears to be sufficient for the conviction of the accused of an offence which is triable exclusively by the Court of Session, or which in the opinion of the Magistrate is one that ought to be tried by the Court of Session, the person accused shall be sent for trial by the Magistrate before the Court of Session.

159. As soon as the charge on which the accused person is to be tried has been prepared, it shall be read to him, and a copy or translation of it shall be furnished to him if he require it. He shall be at liberty, at any time within forty-eight hours after the reading of the charge, to give in, orally or in writing, a list of witnesses whom he may wish to be summoned to give evidence on his trial before the Court of Session. The Magistrate shall receive the list, and summon the witnesses to appear before the Court before which the accused is to be tried. The provisions of Sections 126 and 127, so far as they relate to the compulsory attendance of witnesses, shall be applicable to witnesses named by the accused in the lists above mentioned.

160. When the preliminary enquiry is concluded, the accused person shall be entitled to copies of the depositions made at his own expense, if he demands them at a reasonable time before the trial.

161. When the accused person is committed to take his trial before the Court of Session, the Magistrate shall issue an order to the Government Pleader or other Officer appointed by the Government to conduct trials before the Court of Session, notifying such commitment and stating the offence in the same form as the charge. Nothing in this Section shall preclude the Magistrate (if he shall think fit) from appointing a person other than such Government Pleader or Officer to conduct a trial.

162. Prosecutors and witnesses for the prosecution whose attendance may be necessary before the Court of Session shall execute recognizances before the Magistrate to be in attendance when called upon at the Court of Session, to prosecute or to give evidence as the case may be. If any prosecutor or witness shall refuse to attend before the Court of Session or to execute the recognizance above directed, it shall be competent to the Magistrate to detain such prosecutor or witness in custody until he shall execute such recognizance, or until the time when his attendance at the Court of Session is required, when the Magistrate shall forward such prosecutor or witness under custody to the Court of Session.

CHAPTER XII.

ON THE CHARGE.

163. When the Magistrate has determined to send the accused person before the Court of Session for trial, or put him on his trial before himself for any offence punishable under the Penal Code with imprisonment for a period exceeding six months, he shall make a written instrument under his hand and seal, declaring with what offence the accused is charged, and within the cognizance of what Court the offence is, and shall direct the accused to be tried by such Court on such charge. In all cases sent for trial to the Court of Session the Magistrate shall send a copy of this instrument, with the proceedings, to the public prosecutor, where such Officer has been appointed, otherwise to the Court before which the defendant is to be tried. In the latter case the Magistrate shall also send a copy of the charge to the Government Pleader or other Officer or person appointed to conduct the prosecution.

166. It shall not be necessary at the trial, on the part of the prosecutor, to prove the absence of such circumstances in the first instance; but the accused person shall be entitled to give evidence of the existence of any such circumstances, and evidence in disproof thereof may be given on the part of the prosecutor.

167. Where the Chapter and Section itself referred to in the charge contains an exception, not being one of such General Exceptions, the charge shall not be understood to assume the absence of circumstances constituting such exception so contained in the Chapter and Section, without a distinct denial of the existence of such circumstances.

176. If the amendment or alteration is such that proceeding immediately with the trial is likely, in the opinion of the Court, to prejudice the accused person in his defence, the Court may either direct a new trial, or suspend the trial for such period as may be necessary to enable him to make his defence to the amended or altered charge; and after hearing his defence, may further adjourn the trial to admit of the appearance of any witnesses whose evidence the Court may consider to be material to the case, or whom the accused person may wish to be summoned in his defence. If after the reading of the amended or altered charge to the accused person no postponement is considered necessary by the Court, the Court may at once proceed with the trial.

177. In all cases of amendment or alteration of a charge, the accused person shall be allowed to recall and cross-examine any witness that may have been examined for the prosecution.

CHAPTER XIII.

OF OFFENCES TRIABLE BY THE MAGISTRATE.

When a Warrant on Complaint may issue against the accused person.

178. In all cases where a complaint shall be made before a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the case that any person has committed, or is suspected to have committed,

Cases in which Magistrate may issue a warrant.

any offence triable by such Magistrate, and which is punishable under the Penal Code with imprisonment for a period exceeding six months, it shall be lawful for such Magistrate to issue his warrant to apprehend such person; provided always that in all cases it shall be lawful for the Magistrate to whom such complaint shall be made, if he shall so think fit, instead of issuing in the first instance his warrant to apprehend the person so complained against, to issue his summons requiring him to appear to answer to such complaint.

179. The provisions of Chapter XI relating to the issuing of process for causing the attendance of the accused, the summoning and enforcing the attendance of witnesses, the examination of parties and evidence (except the provision relating to evidence in behalf of the accused in Section 140), the taking of bail, the warrant of commitment, the adjournment of a case, and the discharge of the person accused, shall be applicable to cases described in the last preceding Section.

180. When the evidence of the complainant and of the witnesses for the prosecution, and such examination of the accused person as the Magistrate may consider necessary, have been taken, if the Magistrate finds that no offence has been proved against the accused, he shall discharge him. If he finds that an offence is apparently proved against the accused which falls within the definition in a certain Chapter and Section of the Penal Code, or within one or other of the definitions in several Chapters or Sections of the Code, he shall prepare in writing a charge against the accused in the manner prescribed in Chapter XII of this Act.

181. The charge shall then be read to the accused person, and unless the case is one which in the opinion of the Magistrate ought to be tried by the Court of Session, he shall be asked whether he be guilty or not guilty of the offence charged.

182. If the defendant plead "not guilty" to the charge or refuse to plead, he shall be called upon to enter upon his defence and produce his witnesses if in attendance, and shall be allowed to recall and cross-examine the witnesses for the prosecution.

183. The Magistrate shall summon any witness and examine any evidence, that may be offered in behalf of the accused, to answer or disprove the evidence against him, and may, for this purpose, at his discretion, adjourn the trial to such future time as may be necessary, and so from time to time.

184. The provisions of Sections 126, 127, 130, and 133 shall be applicable to witnesses named in support of the defence.

185. If the accused is convicted, the Magistrate shall pass sentence upon him according to law.

186. In any trial before a Magistrate, wherein it may appear, at any stage of the proceedings, that from any cause the case is one which the Magistrate is not competent to try, the Magistrate shall stop further proceedings under this Chapter, and shall proceed in accordance with the rules of Chapter XI for conducting preliminary investigations in cases triable by the Court of Session.

When a Summons on Complaint shall issue to the Defendant.

187. In all cases where a complaint shall be made before a Magistrate, having jurisdiction in the case, that any person has committed or is suspected to have committed any offence other than the offences provided for in Section 178, for which he is liable, upon a summary conviction for the same before a Magistrate, to be imprisoned or fined, or otherwise punished, it shall be lawful for such Magistrate to issue his summons directed to such person, stating shortly the matter of such complaint, and requiring him to appear at a certain time and place before such Magistrate, to answer to the said complaint; provided that, if the Magistrate shall be satisfied by evidence before him that the accused is about to abscond, then, instead of issuing such summons, it shall be lawful for him to issue his warrant in the first instance for the arrest of the accused.

188. The provisions of Section 123 shall be applicable in respect of warrants issued under the provisions of this Chapter.

189. It shall be competent to the Magistrate, before issuing a summons to the accused party, to examine the complainant as to the specific facts of the case; and if upon such examination it shall appear to the Magistrate that there is no sufficient ground for summoning the accused, he may refuse the summons.

190. If the person served with a summons shall not appear before the Magistrate at the time and place mentioned in such summons, and it shall be made to appear to the Magistrate that such summons was so served in what shall be deemed by the Magistrate to be a reasonable time before the time therein appointed for appearing to the same, or if it shall appear to the Magistrate that after due diligence the summons could not be served on the accused person or on any adult male member of his family, the Magistrate may, upon declaration being made before him substantiating the matter of such complaint to his satisfaction, issue his warrant to apprehend the person so summoned, and to bring such person before him to answer to the said complaint.

191. The Magistrate may, if he sees sufficient cause, dispense with the personal attendance of the party complained against, and permit him to appear by an agent duly authorized to act in his behalf. Provided that it shall be at the discretion of the Magistrate, at any stage of the proceedings, to direct the personal attendance of such party.

Summoning &c. of Witnesses.

192. If it shall be made to appear to the Magistrate that any person is likely to give material evidence in behalf of the complainant or the accused person in any such case as is described in Section 187, and will not voluntarily appear for the purpose of being examined as a witness at the time and place appointed for the hearing of such complaint, such Magistrate shall issue his summons to such person under his hand and seal, requiring him to appear at a time and place mentioned in the summons, before the said Magistrate, to testify what he knows concerning the matter of the said complaint.

193. It shall be lawful for the Magistrate to direct that, before any process is issued for the attendance of witnesses in any such case as is referred to in the last preceding Section, the person preferring the charge shall deposit in the hands of the proper Officer a sufficient sum for the maintenance of the witnesses who may be summoned on his application, during their attendance at the Magistrate's Court, and the Magistrate shall regulate the amount of diet money so required, with reference to the probable period such witnesses may have to be in attendance, and in the event of the prolonged detention of witnesses, shall direct the deposit of any further sum which to the said Magistrate may seem requisite.

194. It shall be at the discretion of the Magistrate, at any stage of the trial, to summon and examine any witnesses whose evidence he may consider essential to the just decision of the case.

195. The provisions of Sections 126, 127, and 130 shall be applicable to witnesses summoned according to the provisions of Sections 192 and 194.

Bail.

196. If upon the day and at the place appointed, the accused person shall attend voluntarily in obedience to the summons in that behalf served upon him, or shall be brought before the Magistrate by virtue of any warrant, it shall be at the discretion of the Magistrate to admit the accused person to bail, or allow him to be at large upon his personal recognizance. If he cannot give bail, when required to do so, he shall be committed to custody.

197. If upon the day appointed for the appearance of the accused or any day subsequent thereto, on which the case may be called on, the complainant does not appear, the Magistrate shall dismiss the complaint; unless for some reason he shall think proper to adjourn the hearing of the same unto some other day, upon such terms as he shall think fit.

198. On the appearance of both parties for the hearing of the case, the substance of the complaint shall be stated to the accused person and he shall be asked if he have any cause to show why he should not be convicted; and if he thereupon admit the truth of such complaint, and show no cause, or no sufficient cause, why he should not be convicted, then the Magistrate may convict him accordingly.

199. If the accused do not admit the truth of the complaint, then the Magistrate shall proceed to hear the complainant, and such witnesses as he may produce in support of his complaint, and also to hear the accused and such witnesses as he may produce in his defence; and having heard the parties and their witnesses, shall consider the whole matter and determine the same, and shall convict the accused person or dismiss the complaint, as the case may be.

200. The evidence of each witness shall be taken down in writing in the language in ordinary use in proceedings before the Court by or in the presence and hearing and under the personal direction and superintendence of the Magistrate, not ordinarily in the form of question and answer, but in that of a narrative, and when completed shall be read over to the witness in the presence of the person accused if in attendance, and shall, if necessary, be corrected and shall be signed by the Magistrate. If the evidence be taken down in a different language from that in which it has been given, and the witness does not understand the language in which it is taken down, the witness may require his deposition as taken down in writing to be interpreted to him in the language in which it was given. When the evidence of a witness is given in English the Magistrate may so take it down in his own hand. It shall be in the discretion of the Magistrate to take down or cause to be taken down, any particular question and answer, if there shall appear any special reason for so doing, or any person who is a prosecutor or a person accused shall require it. The Magistrate shall record such remark as he may think material respecting the demeanour of any witness whilst under examination. In cases in which the evidence is not taken down in writing by the Magistrate himself, he shall be bound, as the examination of each witness proceeds, to make a memorandum of the substance of what such witness deposes, and such memorandum shall be written and signed by the Magistrate with his own hand, and shall form part of the record. If the Magistrate shall be prevented from making a memorandum as above required, he shall record the reason of his inability to do so.

201. It shall be competent to the Magistrate in any such case as is described in Section 187, instead of taking down in writing at length the evidence of each witness, to make a memorandum of the substance thereof as the examination of the witness proceeds. The memorandum shall be written and signed by the Magistrate with his own hand and shall form part of the record. If the Magistrate shall be prevented from making a memorandum as above required he shall record the reason of his inability to do so, and shall cause such memorandum to be made in writing from his dictation in open Court, and shall sign the same, and such memorandum shall form part of the record.

202. Before or during the hearing of any complaint, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate to adjourn the hearing of the same to a future day, to be then appointed and stated in the presence and hearing of the party or parties; and if on the day to which such hearing or such further hearing shall be so adjourned, the accused person shall not appear, the Magistrate may issue his warrant for the arrest of such person, and if the complainant shall not appear, the Magistrate may dismiss such complaint.

203. If the accused person is convicted, the Magistrate shall pass sentence upon him according to law.

204. In all cases of summary conviction of offences of the nature described in Section 187, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate making the same, in his discretion, to award that the accused person shall pay to the complainant such costs as to such Magistrate shall seem just and reasonable; and in cases where such Magistrate, instead of convicting as aforesaid, shall dismiss the complaint, it shall be lawful for him, in his discretion, in and by his order of dismissal, to award and order that the complainant shall pay to the accused person such costs as to such Magistrate shall seem just and reasonable; and the sums so allowed for costs shall always be specified in such conviction, or order of dismissal aforesaid, and shall be recoverable by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the party, and, in default of such distress, by imprisonment, without labor, in the Civil jail for any time not exceeding thirty days unless such costs shall be sooner paid.

CHAPTER XIV.

OF ENQUIRIES AND TRIALS BEFORE THE SUBORDINATE CRIMINAL COURTS.

205. Criminal cases shall be brought before the Subordinate Criminal Courts by reference by the Magistrate. It shall, however, be at the discretion of the Government, respect being had to the public convenience, to authorize a Subordinate Criminal Court also to receive such cases on complaint preferred directly to such Court, or on the report of a Police Officer.

206. Whenever a Criminal case is referred by a Magistrate to a Subordinate Criminal Court, the order of reference, if the case have been transmitted by a Police Officer, shall be recorded on such Officer's report, and if the complaint have been preferred direct to the Magistrate, the process for causing the attendance of the accused shall be made returnable to the Court to which the case is preferred, and the witness shall be directed by the summons to attend at such Court.

207. In the trial of Criminal cases, whether brought before them on reference by the Magistrate, or directly by complaint preferred to themselves, or by the report of a Police Officer, the Subordinate Criminal Courts shall be guided by the rules prescribed for the guidance of the Magistrate in similar cases, and Police Officers and others shall be bound to obey all orders and processes issued in such cases by a Subordinate Criminal Court in like manner as if they had been issued by the Magistrate.

208. In every case before a Subordinate Criminal Court, wherein the Court, at any stage of the proceedings, may be of opinion that the evidence is such as to warrant a presumption that the defendant has been guilty of an offence calling for a more severe punishment than the Court is authorized to adjudge, it shall not proceed with the trial but shall submit its proceedings to the Magistrate, who shall either try the case himself, or refer it to any other Subordinate Criminal Court having jurisdiction. In either case the Court which gives judgment in the trial shall examine the parties as if no proceedings had been held in any other Court, and may, if it think necessary, recall any witnesses who have already given evidence.

Mode of proceeding in cases beyond jurisdiction.

209. Provided that nothing in the last preceding Section shall be held to interfere with the exercise of power specially conferred upon a Subordinate Criminal Court, in regard to committing or holding to bail persons charged with Criminal offences to take their trial before the Courts of Session.

Foregoing rule not to interfere with the power of a Subordinate Criminal Court to commit for trial before the Court of Session.

CHAPTER XV.

PLACE WHERE PRELIMINARY INVESTIGATIONS AND TRIALS HELD, AN OPEN COURT.

210. The room or place in which the Court of a Magistrate, or any Subordinate Criminal Court, shall be held for the trial of any complaint or for the purpose of conducting any preliminary investigation into any case triable by a Court of Session, shall be deemed an open and public Court, to which the public generally may have access, so far as the same can conveniently contain them; but it shall be lawful for any such Court, if it shall think fit, to order that during the investigation into any particular case triable by a Court of Session no person shall have access to, or be, or remain in such room or building without the consent or permission of the Court.

Place where investigation made, an open Court.

CHAPTER XVI.

OF RECOGNIZANCE AND SECURITY TO KEEP THE PEACE.

211. Whenever a person charged with rioting, assault, or other violent breach of the peace, or with abetting the same, or with assembling armed men or taking other unlawful measures with the evident intention of committing the same, shall be convicted of such charge before any Criminal Court by which the offence may be cognizable; and the Court by which a final sentence or order in the case may be passed, shall be of opinion that it is just and necessary to require a penal recognizance for keeping the peace from the person so convicted; it shall be lawful to the Court passing the final sentence or order, in addition thereto, to direct that the person so convicted be required to execute a formal engagement in a sum proportionate to his condition in life and the circumstances of the case, for keeping the peace during such period as it may appear proper to fix in each instance, not exceeding one year if the sentence or order be passed by a Magistrate or other Officer exercising the powers of a Magistrate, or three years if the sentence or final order be passed by the Sudder Court, or by a Court of Session.

Personal recognizance to keep the peace in cases of conviction.

212. In cases wherein it may appear necessary to require security for keeping the peace in addition to the personal recognizance of the party so convicted, it shall also be lawful for the Court passing the final sentence or order, to require the same, and to fix the amount of the security bond to be executed by the surety or sureties; with a provision that if the same be not given the party required to find the security shall be kept in custody for any time not exceeding one year if the order be passed by a Magistrate or other Officer exercising the powers of a Magistrate, or three years if the order be passed by the Sudder Court or by a Court of Session.

213. It shall be lawful for a Magistrate, whenever he shall receive credible information that any person, whether a European British subject or not, is likely to commit a breach of the peace or to do any act that may probably occasion a breach of the peace, to summon such person to attend at a time and place mentioned in the summons to show cause why he should not be required to enter into a bond to keep the peace with or without sureties as the Magistrate shall think fit.

214. The summons shall set forth the substance of the information, the amount of the bond and the term for which it is to be in force, and if security is called for, the number of securities required and the amount in which they are to be bound respectively.

215. The penalty of such bond, which shall be in the form (D) given in the Appendix or to the like effect, shall be fixed with a due regard to the circumstances of the case and the means of the party, and the amount in which the sureties shall be bound shall not exceed the said penalty.

216. If the person summoned shall not attend on the day appointed, the Magistrate, if satisfied that the summons has been served by delivery thereof to him or to an adult male member of his family, may issue a warrant for his arrest. Provided always that, whenever it shall appear to a Magistrate upon the report of a Police Officer or upon other credible information, the substance of which report or information shall be recorded, that there is just reason to fear the commission of a breach of the peace, which may probably be prevented by the immediate arrest of any person, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate at any time to issue a warrant for the arrest of such person.

217. A Magistrate may, if he sees sufficient cause, dispense with the personal attendance of the party informed against and permit him to appear and enter into the required bond or show cause against such requisition by an agent duly authorized to act in his behalf.

218. If on the appearance of the party informed against in person or by an authorized agent, the Magistrate shall not be satisfied that there is occasion to bind such party to keep the peace, he shall discharge him.

219. If the Magistrate shall be satisfied that it is necessary for the preservation of the peace to take a bond from such party with or without security, he shall make an order accordingly; and if the party shall fail to comply with the order, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate to commit him to jail.

220. The period for which a Magistrate may bind a person to keep the peace with or without security, shall not exceed one year, and when a person shall be committed to jail under the last preceding Section, he shall not be detained by authority of the Magistrate beyond the term of one year, and shall be released whenever he shall comply with the order within that term.

221. Provided that, whenever it shall appear to a Magistrate that it is necessary for the preservation of the peace to bind a person beyond the term of one year, he may, before the expiration of the first year, record his opinion to that effect and the grounds thereof, and may refer the case for the orders of the Court of Session, and the Court, after examining the proceedings of the Magistrate and making such further enquiry that he may think necessary, may, if he shall see cause, authorize the Magistrate to extend the term for a further period not exceeding one year, and if the party shall fail to give a bond, with security if required, for his keeping the peace for such further period as the Magistrate shall direct under the orders of the Court of Session, he may be kept in confinement for such further period or until he shall give such bond within that period.

222. A Magistrate may, if he shall see sufficient cause, discharge any recognizances and securities for keeping the peace taken under the preceding Sections, and may order the release of persons confined for default in entering into such recognizances or giving such securities.

223. The sureties for the personal appearance of the defendant may at any time apply to the Magistrate to be relieved from their engagements as sureties; whereupon the Magistrate shall issue his warrant directing that the defendant be brought before him. On the appearance of the defendant to such warrant or on his voluntary surrender, the Magistrate shall direct the engagement of the sureties to be cancelled and shall call upon the defendant to give fresh security, and in default thereof shall commit him to custody.

224. Whenever it may be proved before the Magistrate that any such bond has been forfeited, he shall proceed to enforce the penalty of the bond by the attachment and sale of any of the property of the party bound thereby, and if the penalty be not paid and cannot be recovered by such attachment and sale, the party shall be liable to imprisonment by order of the Magistrate in the Civil jail of the station, for a period not exceeding six months.

225. Whenever it may be proved before the Magistrate that any such bond has been forfeited, if security shall have been taken, the Magistrate at his discretion may give notice to the surety or sureties to pay the penalty to which they have thereby become liable, or to show cause why it should not be paid; and if no sufficient cause be shown, the Magistrate may proceed to recover the penalty from such surety or sureties in the same manner as from the principal party.

CHAPTER XVII.

SECURITY FOR GOOD BEHAVIOUR.

226. Whenever it shall appear to a Magistrate that any person is lurking within his jurisdiction not having any ostensible means of subsistence, or who cannot give a satisfactory account of himself, it shall be competent to the Magistrate to require security for the good behaviour of such person for a definite period not exceeding six months.

227. Whenever it shall appear to a Magistrate, from the evidence to general character adduced before him, that any person is by repute a robber, house-breaker, or thief, or a receiver of stolen property knowing the same to have been stolen, or of notoriously bad livelihood, it shall be competent to the Magistrate to require security for the good behaviour of such person for a definite period not exceeding one year.

228. Whenever it shall appear to a Magistrate, from the evidence to general character adduced before him, that any person is by habit a robber, house-breaker, or thief, or a receiver of stolen property knowing the same to have been stolen, of a character so desperate and dangerous as to render his release, without security, at the expiration of the limited period of one year, hazardous to the community, the Magistrate shall record his opinion to this effect, with an order specifying the amount of security which should, in his judgment, be required from such person, as well as the number of sureties, and the period, not exceeding three years, for which the sureties should be responsible for such person's good behaviour.

229. If the person required to furnish security, as provided in the last preceding Section, shall not furnish the security so required, the proceedings shall be laid, as soon as conveniently may be, before the Court of Session, which, after examining them, and requiring any further information or evidence which it may judge necessary, shall be competent to pass orders on the case, either confirming, modifying, or annulling the orders of the Magistrate, as it may judge proper.

230. In all such cases, if the Court of Session shall not think it safe to direct the immediate discharge of such person, it shall fix a limited period for his detention, not exceeding three years, in the event of his not giving the security required from him.

231. In every instance in which security for good behaviour may be required by the Court of Session or the Magistrate, the amount of the security, the number of sureties, and the period of time for which the sureties are to be responsible for the good conduct of the person required to furnish security, shall be stated.

232. In the event of any person required to give security under the provisions of the foregoing Sections failing to furnish the security so required, he shall be committed to prison until he furnish the same; provided always that no party shall be kept in prison for a longer period than that for which the security has been required from him.

233. The Magistrates are empowered, at all times, to exercise their discretion in releasing, without reference to any other authority, prisoners confined under requisition of security for good behaviour, whether by their own orders or by those of any other person discharging the functions of a Magistrate; provided the Magistrates shall, from whatever cause, be of opinion that such prisoners can be released without hazard to the community.

234. In cases in which a Magistrate may, for whatever reason, be of opinion that any prisoner confined under requisition of security for good behaviour, by order of a Court of Session, can be safely released without such security, the Magistrate shall make an immediate report of the case, with his sentiments, for the orders of the Court which shall have required the prisoner to furnish security previously to his release.

235. The sureties for the good behaviour of a party may at any time apply to the Magistrate to be relieved from their engagements as sureties; whereupon the Magistrate shall issue his warrant directing the party to be brought before him. On the appearance of the party pursuant to the warrant or on his voluntary surrender, the Magistrate shall direct the engagements of the sureties to be cancelled, and shall call upon the party to give fresh security, and in default thereof shall commit him to custody.

236. Whenever the Magistrate shall be of opinion that, by reason of an offence proved to have been committed by the person for whose good behaviour security has been given, proceedings should be had upon the bond executed by the surety or sureties, he shall give notice to the surety or sureties to pay the penalty, or to show cause why it should not be paid; and if no sufficient cause be shown, the Magistrate shall proceed to recover the penalty from such surety or sureties by the attachment and sale of any of his or their property, and if the penalty be not paid, and cannot be recovered by such attachment and sale, such surety or sureties shall be liable to imprisonment by order of the Magistrate, in the Civil jail of the station, for a period not exceeding six months.

237. The several provisions of the last preceding Chapter relating to the issue of summons and warrant of arrest for securing the personal attendance of the party informed against, shall apply to proceedings taken under this Chapter against persons required to give security for their good behaviour.

CHAPTER XVIII. JURIES.

238. • Criminal trials before the Court of Session shall be by Jury.

239. In trials before the Court of Session in which a European not being a British subject, or an American, or an East Indian, or an Armenian, is the accused person or one of the persons accused, one-half at least of the Jury shall consist, if the accused desire it, of persons (qualified to serve on Juries) of his own race or class, if practicable; or if that be not practicable, of Europeans, Americans, East Indians, or Armenians so qualified.

240. In trials before the Court of Session in which a person not belonging to any of the races or classes specified in the last preceding Section shall be tried either alone or jointly with any person belonging to any of the said races or classes, one-half of the Jury, if the accused person who does not belong to any such race or class desire it, shall consist of persons not belonging to any of the said races or classes.

241. In trials by Jury before the Court of Session the Jury shall consist of such number of persons, not being less than four, as the Court shall direct.

242. If the Jury are unanimous in a verdict of guilty, or if a majority of the Jury find a verdict of guilty and the Court concur in such finding, the accused shall be convicted. If the Jury be equally divided in opinion, the Court shall decide whether the accused shall be convicted or acquitted. In all other cases the accused shall be acquitted.

243. All persons resident within the limits of the jurisdiction of the Court of Session shall, according to such rules, and subject to such qualifications as shall be fixed in manner hereinafter mentioned, be deemed capable of serving as Jurors and shall be liable to be summoned accordingly.

244. All residents within the district between the ages of twenty-five and fifty-five years are qualified and liable to serve on Juries in Criminal trials before the Court of Session, except such persons as are hereinafter excepted.

245. The following persons are incapable of serving on Juries in Criminal trials before the Court of Session, namely :—

Persons who hold any Office in, or under the said Court, or receive any pay or emolument for any employment under any Officer thereof.

Persons executing any duties of Police or entrusted with any Police functions.

Persons who have been convicted of any offence against the State or of any fraudulent or infamous offence.

Persons who are afflicted with any infirmity of body or mind, sufficient to incapacitate them from serving.

Persons who, by habit or religious vows, have relinquished all care of worldly affairs.

Persons who are unable to understand the language in which the trial is conducted.

246. The following persons are exempt from the liability to serve on Juries, namely Judges and other Judicial Officers.

Commissioners and Collectors of Revenue.

Chaplains and others employed in Religious Offices.
All persons in the Military service.

Surgeons and others who openly and constantly practice in the profession of physic.

Persons employed in the Post Office and Electric Telegraph Departments.

Persons exempted by Government from personal appearance in Court under the provisions of Section 22 of Act VIII of 1859 (for simplifying the Procedure of the Courts of Civil Judicature not established by Royal Charter).

The exemption from service given by this Section is a right of which each person exempted may avail himself or not. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to disqualify any such person if he shall be willing to serve on Juries.

247. In the month of _____ in every year the Collector shall prepare and make out in alphabetical order a list of persons residing within fifteen miles from the place where Criminal trials before the Court of Session are held, or within such other distance as the local Government may think fit to direct, who are, in the judgment of the Collector, the best qualified from their education and character to serve as Jurors. The list shall contain the name, place of abode, and quality or business of every such person; and if the person belongs to any of the races or classes specified in Section 239, the list shall mention the race or class to which he belongs.

248. Copies of such list shall be stuck up in the Office of the Collector and in the Court-house of the Magistrate and of the Judge, and in some conspicuous place or places in the town or station where or in the vicinity of which the persons named in the list reside, and every such copy shall have subjoined to it a notice, stating that objections to the list will be heard and determined by the Collector at a time and place to be mentioned in the notice.

249. The Collector shall, at the time and place mentioned in the notice, revise the list, striking out the names of persons not qualified in his judgment to serve as Jurors, and inserting in the list the names of persons omitted therefrom, whom he deems qualified for such service. A copy of the revised list shall be signed by the Collector and transmitted to the Court of Session.

250. The Court of Session shall, three days at the least before the time fixed for the holding of Sessions, cause as many persons named in the said revised list as seem to the Court to be needed for Jury trials at the said Sessions to be summoned; provided that the Court shall in no case cause a less number than eight persons to be so summoned. The names of the persons to be summoned shall be drawn by lot in open Court, excluding those on the revised list who have served within six months unless when the number cannot be made up without them.

251. Every summons to a Juror shall be in writing and shall require his attendance as a Juror at a time and place to be specified in the notice. The summons or a copy thereof shall be served, through the Court's own Officers or the Officers of the Magistrate of the district in which the Juror resides, on the Juror personally if he can be found at his usual place of abode. If he be absent from his usual place of abode, it may be left for him there with some male member of his family residing with him.

252. The Court of Session may direct Jurors to be summoned at other periods than the period specified in Section 250 where the business of the Court renders the attendance of one set of Jurors for a whole Session too oppressive.

253. If any person summoned to serve as a Juror be an Officer of Government, the summons shall be transmitted to such person through the Head Officer of the Office in which he is employed, and the Court may excuse the attendance of such person if it shall appear on the representation of such Head Officer that such person cannot serve as a Juror without inconvenience to the public service.

254. The Court of Session may excuse any Juror from attendance for reasonable cause.

255. At each Session the Court shall cause to be made a minute of the names of those who serve as Jurors at such Sessions. The minute shall be kept with the revised list and a reference thereto shall be made in such list in the margin of the entry of those names in the list which are also mentioned in the said minute.

256. Whenever any Jury trial is to be had, the persons (not being less than four in number) who are to constitute the Jury shall be chosen by lot immediately before the commencement of the trial from those Jurors who attend in obedience to the summons.

257. Before the commencement of the trial (the accused person being present) the names of the Jurors shall be called aloud, and upon the appearance of each Juror the accused person shall be asked if he objects to be tried by such Juror. Any objection made to a Juror shall be decided by the Court. If an objection be allowed, the place of such Juror shall be supplied by any other Juror in attendance in obedience to his summons or by any person mentioned in the said list of Jurors who may be in attendance, provided no objection to such Juror be made and allowed.

258. Either the Government Pleader (or other person appointed by the Government to conduct trials before the Court of Session), or the accused person, may object to any of the persons chosen to be of the Jury, stating the ground of his objection.

259. The following shall be deemed to be sufficient grounds of objection:—

(1.) Any ground of disqualification within Section 245.

(2.) Relationship to the person alleged to be injured or attempted to be injured by the offence charged, or to the person on whose complaint the prosecution was instituted, or to the defendant.

(3.) Standing in the relation of husband, master or servant, landlord or tenant, being in the employment on wages of one of the parties, or plaintiff or defendant against him in any civil suit, or having complained against him, or being accused by him in any Criminal prosecution.

(4.) If the accused person can prove to the satisfaction of the Court any circumstance that shows either prejudice against him or favor to his accuser, such circumstance shall be a sufficient ground of objection to the Juror.

260. The Jury shall appoint one of their number to be foreman; whose duty it shall be to preside in their debates, to deliver the verdict, or ask any information from the Court that may be required by the Jury. If a majority do not agree in the appointment of a foreman, he shall be named by the Court.

261. The same Jury may, if not objected to, try as many accused persons successively as to the Court shall seem expedient.

262. Whenever in the opinion of the Court it may be deemed proper and convenient that the Jury should have a view of the place in which the offence is said to have been committed or of any other place in which any other transaction material to the enquiry on the trial took place, an order shall be made to that effect, and the Jury shall be conducted in a body under the care of an Officer of the Court to the place which shall be shown to them by a person appointed by the Court, and it shall be the duty of the Officer to suffer no other person to speak to the Jury, and they shall, when the view is finished, be immediately conducted into Court.

263. Whenever any Jury trial is to be had in which the accused person or one of the persons accused is entitled to a Jury constituted under the provisions of Section 239, the Court of Session shall, three days at the least before the day fixed for holding such trial, cause not less than four of the persons named in the revised list of Jurors of the race or class to which the accused belongs to be summoned; the Court shall also at the same time cause as many other persons named in the revised list as seem to the Court to be needed for such trial to be summoned. The names shall be drawn by lot, excluding those who have served within six months unless when the number cannot be made up without them.

264. Any person summoned to attend as a Juror who shall without lawful excuse fail to attend, shall be liable by order of the Court of Session to a fine not exceeding fifty Rupees, to be levied by attachment and sale of his property.

CHAPTER XIX.

TRIALS BEFORE THE COURTS OF SESSION.

265. Except in the cases referred to in Section 114, a Court of Session, as a Court of original Criminal jurisdiction, shall not take cognizance of any offence but upon a charge preferred by a Magistrate or other Officer specially empowered by this Act or any other law to make commitments to such Court.

266. In every trial before a Court of Session the prosecution shall be conducted by the Government Pleader or some other Officer specially empowered in that behalf, and the complainant, if there be a complainant, shall be examined as a witness in the case.

267. A Court of Session may direct the postponement of a trial, when it is satisfied that such postponement is proper and essential to the ends of justice.

268. When the Court is ready to commence the trial, the accused person shall be brought before it, and the charge shall be read and explained to him, and he shall be asked whether he be guilty or not guilty of the offence charged. If the accused plead guilty, the plea shall be recorded and the accused convicted thereon.

269. If the accused person refuse to plead, or plead "not guilty," the Court shall proceed to try the case, taking all the evidence that is forthcoming in due course.

270. The evidence of the witness shall be taken in the manner prescribed in Section 133 for taking of evidence before the Magistrate.

271. If any witness shall refuse to answer such material questions as shall be put to him, without offering any just excuse for such refusal, the Court may commit such witness to custody for such reasonable time as it may deem proper, unless he shall in the meantime consent to be examined and to answer, after which, in the event of his persisting in his refusal, he may be dealt with according to the provisions of Section 108 or Section 114.

272. The examination of the accused person before the Magistrate shall be given in evidence at the trial. The attestation of the Magistrate shall be sufficient proof of such examination, and such attestation shall be admitted without proof of the signature to it unless the Court shall see reason to doubt its genuineness.

273. It shall be in the discretion of the Court, at any stage of a trial, to summon and examine any witnesses whose evidence it may consider essential to the just decision of the case.

274. The Court shall receive in evidence the examination of a Civil Surgeon or other Medical witness taken and duly attested by the Magistrate, provided that nothing in this Section shall prevent the Court from summoning the witness if it shall see sufficient cause for doing so.

275. The examination of a witness taken and attested by the Magistrate shall be admitted in evidence if the witness be dead or the Court be satisfied that for any sufficient cause his attendance cannot be procured.

276. Any document purporting to be a report from the Chemical Examiner to Government upon any matter or thing duly submitted to him for examination or analysis and official report in the course of any Criminal trial or in any preliminary enquiry relating thereto, shall be received in evidence at such trial if it bears the official signature of the said Examiner, and no proof of such signature or that the person signing holds such office shall be requisite unless the Court shall see reason to doubt the genuineness of the document.

277. When the case for the prosecution has been brought to a close, the accused person shall be called upon to enter upon his defence, and to produce his evidence. The Court may put such questions to the accused as it may think proper. But it shall be explained to the accused person that he is at liberty to decline to answer any question so put to him.

278. The accused person shall be allowed to call any witness not previously named by him, but he shall not be entitled to have any other witnesses summoned than those named in the list delivered to the Magistrate or other Officer by whom he was committed or held to bail for trial, except as provided in Section 176.

279. The Court may, in its discretion, adjourn the trial to such future time as may be necessary, and so from time to time.

280. In the event of the adjournment of a trial by Jury, the Jury shall be required to attend at the adjourned sitting, and at every subsequent sitting until the conclusion of the trial, and any Juror who shall without lawful excuse fail to attend, shall be liable by order of the Court of Session to a fine not exceeding one hundred Rupees to be levied by attachment and sale of his property.

281. In cases tried by Jury, the Judge shall sum up the evidence on both sides, and the Jury shall then deliver their finding upon the charge.

282. If the defendant is convicted, and the Court of Session is competent to dispose of finally, it shall proceed to pass sentence upon the defendant according to law.

283. If the case is one in which, if the defendant be convicted, he is liable to sentence of death, the Court of Session shall pass sentence; and if sentence of death be passed, it shall not be executed without the confirmation of the Sudder Court.

In any case submitted to the Sudder Court for confirmation of the sentence, the Court may either confirm the sentence or pass any other sentence warranted by law, or may reverse the conviction and order a new trial.

284. The Courts of Session shall transmit to the Sudder Court such periodical statements or calendars of all trials held by them as the Sudder Court shall prescribe, exhibiting the offence charged, the offence of which the accused is convicted, and the sentence passed upon him.

CHAPTER XX.

SUDDER COURT,

As a Court of Reference.

285. A case referred by a Court of Session for confirmation of a sentence of the Court of Session shall be heard by a Court constituted by two or more Judges of the said Sudder Court. The confirmation of the sentence or any new sentence or order passed shall be signed by not less than two of such Judges.

286. Provided that, if the Sudder Court is of opinion that the facts charged or those of which the accused is found guilty against an accused person do not answer to the legal definition of an offence, it shall annul the conviction and may order a new trial upon an amended charge.

287. In any case referred to the Sudder Court, it shall be competent to the Court, if it think further enquiry or additional evidence upon any point bearing upon the guilt or innocence of the accused to be necessary, to direct such enquiry to be made, or such additional evidence to be taken.

CHAPTER XXI.

FINDING, JUDGMENT, AND SENTENCE.

288. In any trial by Jury, when the Jury are unanimous in thinking the accused guilty of the offence specified in the charge, or of the offence specified in any head of the charge when there are more heads than one, the verdict shall be that the accused is guilty of such offence. When the Jury are not unanimous, but a majority concur in thinking the accused guilty, the verdict shall be that the accused is found guilty of the offence specified in the charge, or in a such a head of the charge as above provided, by a majority of the jurors (stating the number.) When a majority of the Jurors do not concur in thinking the accused guilty, the verdict shall be that the accused is not guilty. When the Jury, or a majority of the Jurors, concur in thinking the accused guilty of an offence, but are doubtful under which of two heads of the charge the offence falls, the verdict shall be that the accused is guilty either of the offence charged in such a head, or of the offence charged in such another head of the charge. When the Jury are equally divided in opinion the verdict shall state specially the division of opinion.

289. When the trial in any Criminal Court is concluded, the Court, in passing judgment, if the accused be convicted, shall distinctly specify the offence of which, and the Section and Chapter of the Penal Code under which he is convicted, or if it be doubtful under which of two Sections the offence falls, shall distinctly express the same, and pass judgment in the alternative, according to Section 18 of Chapter III.

The Court directs [or, the Court concurs in such finding, and directs] that under the provisions of the above mentioned Sections, and the provisions of Section 18 Chapter III of the Penal Code, the said Z be [sentence]

EXTRACT of a letter from the Officiating Adjutant General of the Army to the Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department, No. 1094, dated 18th August 1859.

In continuation of my letter, No. 389, of 20th May last, I am now directed to append for submission to His Excellency the Governor General in Council, the accompanying Despatch, No. 1204A, dated 29th June of the present year, from Major General Sir Hugh Rose, G. FROM MAJOR-GENERAL SIR HUGH ROSE, K. C. B.,
Commanding Central India Field Force,

TO THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF THE ARMY,

Head Quarters, Bombay.

Camp Saugor, 7th February 1858.

SIR,

My report of the 31st ultimo will have informed you, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that the Rebels had determined to defend the Fort of Rathghur in order to prevent my Force from relieving Saugor, and putting down rebellion in the Saugor and Bundelkhand Districts.

As I approached Rathghur, I received information of the assemblage of Rebels at Odepore in Scindia's Country and in my front; in order to ensure the safety of the Siege Train, which was a day's march in the rear, and not to lose time, I brought it up by a night march to my Force, and adopted precautions against surprise.

In going through a pass over a range of hills, five miles from Rathghur, the Officer Commanding the leading flankers, embarrassed by the thick jungle, took by mistake the right instead of the left road, as ordered, and crossing, in consequence, the River Beena by the upper, the wrong ford got into a skirmish with the Rebels posted in the suburbs of Rathghur. I had just arrived, with the advanced guard at the encamping ground; to extricate the flankers from a position so unfavorable to Cavalry, I advanced and covered with the Infantry Guns and supports their return to their proper position. In rectifying this mistake, I had gained a good deal of ground to the right front, and a Company of the 24th Native Infantry had taken with spirit one or two houses and gardens; on reconnoitering, I found that they were the commencement of the suburbs, and that to keep all this would compromise my right, and a plan of attacking the Fort from the left flank. I therefore ordered the Troops back to their Camp.

The next day I made, with Major Boileau, Commanding Engineer, and a small party of the 3rd Europeans and 3rd Light Cavalry, under Captain Forbes, a complete reconnoissance of eighteen miles of the whole Country round the rock of Rathghur.

I ascertained that the rock, $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile in length, covered and surrounded with thick jungle, slopes from the West where it is precipitous to the East, where it is accessible. The North front of the fort was the only one which was habited; the other fronts were merely fortifications. The River Beena runs under its West face.

The reconnoissance confirmed in all essentials the information on which I had formed my plan of attack. I carried it out, by investing the same evening the rock of Rathghur as closely as the great extent, hills, thick jungle, and a difficult River would allow me. But it is impossible, unless with a very much larger Force than my own to invest completely such ground, because a great part of it is dense jungle, which hiding all view of the Enemy's motions, enable him, by a feint, to concentrate videttes and pickets on one point, and then pass through the vacuum.

Sir Robert Hamilton had the goodness to place at my disposal 600 or 700 Troops of all Arms of the Regiment of Bhopal; and I had requested their Commander to invest the South-West of the Fort, as being nearest to their Country, and to take the village of Puttan, which they did with alacrity after firing a few shots.

The next day as soon as the Officers Commanding the Artillery and Engineers had reported that they were ready for the Siege, I attacked the Fort from the left, at the South-West end of the rock, under cover of a feint from the right, against the Town, from which all possible advantage was to be derived.

Both succeeded.

Leaving a Troop of the 3rd Light Cavalry at the Lieutenant-Colonel Liddell, Commanding 3rd Bombay European Regiment, Detachment of Siege Train under Lieutenant Mallock, two 18-pounder, 16 men Bombay Artillery, Two 84 inch Mortars, 10 men Bombay Artillery, 80 Madras Sappers and Miners, two 8-pounder Guns Artillery, Hyderabad Contingent, one Troop 3rd Light Cavalry under Captain Forbes.

of the rock, two Companies supporting and the rest in reserve we made our way through thick jungle, and reached without being discovered, the edge of the open ground in front of the East curtain of the Fort, which Major Boileau had selected for the breaching Batteries.

I directed a road to be cut immediately by the Sappers and Miners from the foot of the slope to this Battery: our left to open a communication down the South of the rock with the Troop of the 3rd Cavalry, investing the South of the rock, our right to open a communication down the North side of the rock with the Camp, and Rifle pits to be made at night in front of our attack, enfilading, as much as possible, the Enemy's line of defences.

The Enemy having perceived our position, commenced rather a sharp fire on it from their jinjals and small guns in the curtain and bastions which I kept down with the fire of the 6-Pounder of the Hyderabad Contingent, and the $5\frac{1}{2}$ Mortars, the former firing at the loop holes and embrasures, the latter with half charges dropping their shells on the bannuette. I beg to mention, for his devotion on this occasion, Quarter Master Thompson, Commanding a half Battery of the Artillery of the Hyderabad Contingent, who has completed thirty-two years of meritorious service. Twice hit, he continued to fight his guns successfully to the close of the day. I thanked his Battery on the ground.

The two 18-Pounders, with Elephant draught, were brought up the hill at 4 p. m.; the 3rd Europeans dragging them up the steep where the Elephants could not go.

The feint against the Town drove the Enemy out of Four six Pounder Guns, Bombay Horse Artillery.

Six nine Pounder Guns, Bombay Light Field Battery, under Captain Lightfoot.

Fifty Bombay Sappers and Miners. Detachment of Siege Train.

One 8-inch Howitzers. } All the Artillery under Lieutenant-Colonel Turnbull. Two Troops of R. M.'s 14th Light Dragoons under Major Scudamore, 24th Regiment Native Infantry.

placed Captain Lightfoot's 9-Pounder Battery, one 8 inch Howitzer and two 8 inch Mortars. These Batteries forming the right or Town attack kept up, night and day, an effective fire on the line of defences and buildings of the Fort.

On the 27th instant, I changed the 8 inch Howitzer from the right to the left attack, in order to enfilade with its fire the defences and palaces of the North face.

I was constantly between the two attacks which were $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles apart.

From the Town attack I directed a Detachment of the 3rd Europeans, supported by another of the 24th Native Infantry, with two Companies of the 24th Native Infantry in reserve, and under cover of houses and trees and of a heavy fire from the Eedgha Battery to take a low massive tower close to the main gate, Captain Lightfoot being of opinion that a Howitzer might be placed in it which would batter the gate, and strengthen and shorten the cordon of investment. I had a couple of 8 inch shells thrown into the Tower, to drive out the Enemy should they be there when the storming party gallantly led by Captain Lightfoot, who volunteered to accompany it, for which I beg to recommend him to His Excellency, entered the Tower under a heavy fire from the walls by the postern opposite the walls from which it was only fifty yards distant; Captain Lightfoot recommends Private Davies of the 3rd Europeans for his gallantry and intelligence on this occasion.

Captain Lightfoot and Lieutenant Bonus, of the Engineers, having after a thorough examination of the Tower, reported that the massive construction and nature of its defences prevented their being used for the offensive, I withdrew the Troops from it before daylight.

On the 28th instant at 8, the sand bag batteries, of the left attack having been completed, the two 18-Pounders and the 8 inch Howitzer having been brought up to them, commenced their fire against the outer wall of the East curtain of the Fort with such good effect, that it was evident that a practicable breach would be soon made.

I had just returned to the Camp from the Battery when the Rebels coming in force out of the thick jungle, crossed the River Beena and attacked the Biddettes of the right rear of the Camp; another large body of them appeared at the same time on the opposite bank, the two bodies amounting to 1,500 or 2,000 men, many of them Sepoys and valaitees.

I moved rapidly with the outlying picket of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons, who in less than a minute, were in their saddles against the Rebels, ordering two guns, and the rest of the pickets to follow in support: the Enemy who were skirmishing with a picket of the 3rd Light Cavalry on seeing our approach, fired a discharge of muskets and rockets at us, and ran into a gorge of the Beena and up its rocky banks; I directed Captain Hare, following in my rear, to move by a short line and cut off their retreat.

Brigadier Steuart, whom I had called up, advancing from the Eedgha with a few rounds of Artillery, sent the Rebels on the other side of the River into the jungle, and the whole retreated rapidly to a precipitous ridge above the village of Chunderapore, four miles to the North-West of Rathghur, from whence they had started in the morning.

Captain Hare came up with the rear of the Rebels before they reached the ridge, and cut up several of them.

Captain Hare and Lieutenant Westwacott, attached to the Hyderabad Cavalry, did good service on this occasion, and Lieutenant Moore, of the 3rd Bombay Light Cavalry, who, on account of the few Artillery men, served a gun with effect, deserves also to be mentioned.

After night fall, the Rebels made a feeble and unsuccessful attack on the left of the Camp from the Saugor Road. The Rebels, who had come from their fortified Camp Norcoalee and from the Fort of Kooreye, failed completely in their attempt to surprise the Camp and relieve Rathghur—during the whole time of their attack, the breaching Batteries continued their fire. Colonel Turnbull reported that the breach would be practicable for an assault the next day at sunset.

Accounts now came into me that the Rebels from the Chunderapore ridge had early in the morning attacked in the difficult pass, mentioned in the first part of this Report, a convoy of supplies coming for my force from the West, and had killed Scindia's vakeel who was in charge of it.

The safety of my supplies rendered it necessary that the Enemy should be driven from Chunderapore during night. I was employed in making arrangements for attacking them, which was not easy, as my Force was already engaged in an operation for which, in former times, a Force of our times their strength was considered necessary. However, I was on the point of marching against Chunderapore, when two spies I had sent out during the night, came in and reported that the Enemy had left that place for Baroda.

On visiting the Eedgha, Brigadier Steuart reported to me that about 4 o'clock A. M. the Enemy had attempted to make a sortie from the main gate, which he had driven back with Captain Lightfoot's 9-Pounders. A Bhopall Officer came up and reported that he had cut up twenty-five out of fifty of the Garrison who had attempted to force their way by his patrol. Colonel Liddell reported also, at the same time, that judging from the stillness in the Fort, that its garrison were escaping, he had entered it by the incompleated breach with part of the 3rd Europeans, who after receiving some shots from the few Rebels still there, had killed them and taken possession of the Fort. The main body fled by an ancient sally port and a hole dug under the parapet to the South-West, from which when I entered the Fort the ropes were hanging, by which they had let themselves down. The reports of all the Officers on duty, state that these Rebels crossing a ford over the Beena to the South-West, under the Bhopall Camp, passed through the Bhopall lines into the jungle, the Bhopall Troops fired a few shots at the fugitives, two or three of their dead baggage animals in this ford showed the track they had taken. The Bhopall Troops have been, and are still so useful to me, that I merely mention this circumstance, which is nothing out of the way amongst Oriental Troops, out of justice to my own Force.

The Garrison stated to be 400 or 500 in number had, although many of them were warlike valaitees and Pathans, despite of their determination that they would hold Rathghur or die, not been able to stand the shelling, or meet the approaching assault, I am glad to say that the investment of the rock prevented the escape, and caused the capture of most of the Chief Rebels and of many of the rest. Mahomed Fazil Khan, a relation of the Regent of Bhopal, and the Military Chief of the Rebels in these Districts, and all his Staff, such as they were, attempted to cross the Beena, but seeing the videttes of H. M.'s 14th Light Dragoons on the other bank, turned back and hid themselves in a cave under the rock where they were captured. The videttes and pickets round the rock, those of Bhopall included, cut down and took many of the fugitive Garrison during the day I made over eighty prisoners to Sir Robert Hamilton, of whom twenty-four were executed, and forty-eight more to the Civil Authorities.

Of the Cavalry sent in pursuit of the fugitives, the Hyderabad Irregulars came up with and killed forty of them, this being exclusive of the twenty-five killed by the Bhopall Troops; Lieutenant Westwacott on this occasion, again distinguished himself.

At sunset Mahomed Fazil Khan and the Nawab Kamdar Khan, a pensioner of the British Government and a son of the great Pindaree Chief, taken by Sir John Malcolm, were hung over the gate of the Fort in presence of Detachments of my Force, the next day seventeen more, most of them Rebels of note and all part of the Garrison of Rathghur were executed, two of them, brothers of the Pindaree Chief, had taken part in the murder of the British Assistant at Bereiseeah, Kishen Ram, a Secretary of Mahomed Fazil Khan, is stated to have been instrumental in atrocities committed on forty Christians. Wallidad Khan, who admitted on his trial "that he had done all he could and three times urged Fazil Mahomed to go down sword in hand and attack the Camp," a valaitee leader, &c.

The Shazadah of Mundesore was not in the Fort, as was proved by an unopened letter from the Rajah of Banpoor to his address found in the Fort by an Officer of the 3rd Europeans he had left it the day of our arrival. In this letter, which is curious, the Rajah gives him the title of "King," and deploras that many Native Chiefs do not venerate his Kingly authority as they ought to do, but have the bad taste to prefer the rule of the "Kafir and infidels."

The Fort was provided with a fine tank cut out of the rock fifty feet deep; and in it were found great stores of salt and grain sufficient for a year's consumption, a few Camels, Cattle and several Horses, two of them belonging to Mahomed Fazil Khan, one with a silver bridle and another to the Shazadah of Mundesore, a mould for casting cannon, and shot, and an immense mass of Native correspondence and English accounts, which I made over to Sir Robert Hamilton, one object was also found which excited indignation, the effigy of the head of a decapitated European female, which it appears these supporters of a change of rule in India carried before their Troops, as fitting emblems of their deeds, notwithstanding this, and all that has passed, far worse than this, the 8rd Europeans, when they entered the Fort, treated the women and numerous children of the Rebels who were left there, with the humanity which was to be expected from their discipline, and their faith. I had enjoined the Troops, for the honor of their Country and the Army, not to harm a woman or a child.

I beg to bring to His Excellency's favorable consideration the zealous and able support which I have received before Rathghur from Brigadier Steuart, Lieutenant-Colonel Turnbull, Commanding the Artillery, and Major Boileau, Commanding the Engineers, and which contributed so materially to the success of the operations against it, as well as the discipline, courage and thorough good will of the Troops engaged on them.

Anxious not to lose a day in relieving Saugor, I made continued marches without a halt. The Troops, on account of the difficulties of supply, were, at times twenty-four hours, without rations, and four days on duty before Rathghur without a relief, defending their Camp against a numerous Enemy in a dangerous Country in their flanks and rear, attacking with all their energy and taking, in three days, a Fort strong by nature and art in their front, which Scindia with a Force, of at least four times their strength, besieged for five months.

I shall have the honor to make favorable mention of the services of my Staff in a future Report.

I beg leave to enclose a Return of the Oude Artillery found in the Fort, and of the Casualties in my Force before Rathghur.

The Troops took three large Standards, two of which bore the red extended hand, the device of Mahomedan Rebellion.

I beg to offer my excuses for the length of this Report which is caused by the varied nature of the operations. I cannot conclude it without returning my sincere thanks to His Excellency and to Lord Elphinstone, for having made my Force as complete as circumstances would possibly allow, and for the very great kindness with which you have attended to all my requests on this subject.

I have, &c.,

FROM MAJOR GENERAL SIR HUGH ROSE, K. C. B.,

Commanding Central India Field Force.

TO COLONEL GREEN, C. B.,

Adjutant-General of the Army.

SIR,

I HAVE the honor to state to you, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that after the capture of Rathghur, the Rebels who had retired from Chunderapore to Barodia, as mentioned in my Report of the 7th February 1858, concentrated in the latter place, having been re-inforced by such of the Garrison of Rathghur as had escaped, and by Rebels from Koraye and other places in Bundelcund.

2. Barodia on the left bank of the river Beena, is a strong village with a "gurrie" or small Fort, with dense jungle on each side about 12 miles from Rathghur, on the road to Koraye a strong fort 29 miles to the north of Saugor.

3. The object of the Rebels in concentrating at Barodia was to prevent or endanger my advance to Saugor, by re-taking Rathghur or by placing themselves in my rear, on the road from Bhopall to Saugor, to cut off, as they had already attempted to do, the supplies coming to me from the friendly States of Scindia and Bhopall. It was consequently necessary to attack the Enemy and drive them out of Barodia.

4. Taking with me the Force stated in the margin, I marched at mid-day, on the 31st ultimo from Rathghur, leaving Brigadier Steuart with the remainder of my Force to protect Rathghur and the Camp.

5. I moved in the order of march which I always adopt when near the Rebels, as a precaution against their system of surprises; that is a line of flankers of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons on each side of the road, 50 yards in front of the leading file of the advanced guard, which with a file of Irregulars has charge of the guides, another line of Irregular Cavalry, 150 yards in echelon in front of the outward flanks of the 14th, and should thick jungle border the road, a Company of Infantry in extended order on each side of it to support the flankers of the 14th and the advanced guard. By this means all dangerous ground is searched, surprises are almost impossible and spies lying concealed at a great distance from the road, are frequently seized.

6. As we approached Barodia and the river Beena, we had very thick jungle, long grass, and nullahs on our left. The flankers of the Irregulars suddenly halting, reported that they perceived the Enemy in force in ambuscade on our left. Being with the advanced guard, which was under Lieutenant-Colonel Turnbull, I ordered the two guns of his Troop to open their fire to the left on the Enemy; before they could do so the Enemy opened a Musketry fire on us, killing Lieutenant-Colonel Turnbull's horse, and keeping it up with tenacity, although I re-inforced the division of Horse Artillery with four of Captain Lightfoot's 9-Pounders, firing grape and round shot; it was too close for shrapnell.

7. Lieutenant-Colonel Turnbull, with the Horse Artillery, took ground to the right with the view to enfilade the Enemy, but he could not get a slant at them. However, this movement enabled him to obtain good views of a body of Rebel horsemen, with a red standard endeavouring to gain a wood to our right and outflank us. I had directed a charge of Cavalry against them, but it could not be executed in consequence of the Staff Officer being unable to find a passage down the high banks of the Beena, two rounds of spherical case burst amongst this batch, they disappeared.

8. I had placed the 3rd Europeans in skirmishing order, in front of the flanks of the guns, their united fire diminished, but did not silence the fire of the Rebels.

9. I therefore charged the Rebels out of their advanced position, with the skirmishes of the 3rd Europeans, who, under Lieutenant-Colonel Liddell, gallantly drove them out of their own treacherous element, thick jungle, and twisting nullahs, and took possession of the bank of the river, commanding the ford to Barodia, which now first became visible; the Rebels had displayed so much obstinacy in defending this position in order to prevent our advance across the Beena to Barodia.

10. Lieutenant-Colonel Liddell, Captain Neville, Royal Engineers, Captain Campbell, 3rd Europeans, * Lieutenant Macdonald was Captain Rose, my Aide-de-camp and * Lieutenant Macdonald, Assistant Quarter-Master General, were conspicuous in this advance.

11. I turned the advantage gained by the 3rd Europeans immediately to account, and sent the Hyderabad Irregular Cavalry supported by the 3rd Bombay Light Cavalry under Captain Forbes to cross the ford covered by the skirmishers, to pass through the jungle to the front and fall on the Enemy in the open which I had learnt was between the jungle and Barodia. I followed with four guns of the Horse Artillery and a Troop of Her Majesty's 14th Light Dragoons in support under Lieutenant-Colonel Turnbull, ordering the rest of my Force to follow with the exception of Captain Hare's Infantry and Guns which remained at the Fort to prevent the rear being cut off.

12. Captain Forbes found the Enemy's flanks, particularly their left, posted in thick jungle, their centre in comparatively open ground; he charged and broke their centre, cutting up thirty or forty of them. The third, and a very strong position, the village of Barodia, now came within sight. Captain Forbes having observed a body of Cavalry retreating leisurely on it attempted to cut them off, but their flight on seeing his intention became so rapid, that he only succeeded in killing eight or ten of them before they got well under the protection of their guns in position at their village and of the matchlock men posted in the dense jungle, which surrounded three sides of it, and lining the banks of a wet nullah running along the front.

13. Captain Forbes mentioned for their conduct on this occasion, and I beg to recommend to His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, Subadar Soojut Khan, for having killed himself, three of the Rebels all of his own caste, Naick Humut Sing very severely wounded, Naick Babadheen Khan and Trooper Vass, also severely wounded, who attracted the notice of their Officers by engaging singly two or three of the Enemy at the same time.

14. On the day before, when the Camp was attacked, the same faithful Subadar tendered the advance of the Enemy by the able disposition of his picket.

15. If His Excellency were pleased to obtain a reward for these brave Soldiers, it would have a good effect on their Regiment, whose fidelity and courage have never failed.

16. Jemadar Jhurut Hoosanic Khan, 3rd Hyderabad Cavalry, was mortally wounded in courageously attacking singly a knot of the Enemy.

17. Captain Forbes conducted the charge with the same gallantry and intelligence which distinguished him at Kashab.

18. Although the Ford was a bad one, Lieutenant-Colonel Turnbull took his Guns across it rapidly in support of the Cavalry, and when by the strength of the Enemy's position, they were compelled to give up the pursuit, unlimbered in front of the village, and the Enemy's Guns, and opened an effective fire on their position. Captain Lightfoot with the 9-Pounder Battery arrived shortly afterwards.

19. The Enemy answered with guns and rockets, killing at my side to my great regret, Captain Neville of the Royal Engineers, acting as my Aide-de-camp: knowing what excellent service he had done as an Engineer Officer before Sebastapool, I had brought him up by forced marches to assist in the reduction of the Forts in this Country; during the action he was most useful to me, exhibiting to the last the courage and intelligence which had obtained for him so honorable a reputation.

20. Driven from their position by the fire of our guns, the Enemy retreated across a wall and open space into the village and jungle. I directed Captain Lightfoot to correspond to this movement, he took ground to the left with guns and gave them before they reached cover an enfilading and destructive fire, the 5½ inch Mortars threw shell into the small Fort of the village and jungle, to which the Enemy had retired.

21. It was now getting dark, taking two Companies of the 3rd Europeans which had just come up, I crossed the wet nullah, and bringing their right shoulders forward occupied the wall round the village and surrounded it with the skirmishers and a Troop of the 3rd Light Cavalry. Lieutenant-Colonel Liddell afterwards occupied it and the little Fort, but the Enemy except a few valaitee skirmishers who were killed had fled to Koraye through the jungle, leaving baggage unpacked and other signs of a precipitate retreat.

22. I was not at all sure that my Camp with the Siege Artillery and numerous stores, left with a small Force at Rathghur, under Brigadier Stuart, might not be attacked during my absence, as it had been before; I therefore halted in the village only for a short time in order to rest the Troops, who had been on duty for the last five days, and marched back the same night to Rathghur, they were marching or engaged fifteen hours.

The Enemy's loss was severe, they themselves state it to be from four to five hundred, which is not surprising as they, were exposed to well directed fire for a length of time. Amant Sing, their ablest Military leader, and a nephew of Tajie Mahomed Khan, were killed; and the Rajah of Banpore was wounded.

The valaitees and Pathans fought with their accustomed courage, several of them, even when dying, springing from the ground and inflicting mortal wounds with their broad swords.

The good result of the defeat of the Rebels at Barodia exceeded my expectations; not only were my communications with the West and Saugor completely opened, but the rebels, flying from Barodia to Koraye, left in their panic that place, although it is a Fort, in a strong position, and Krulassa, which is between thirty and forty miles to the North-West of Saugor. Nuree-awallee, their fortified Camp, was also abandoned, all these places and the Country about them had been in their hands for the last eight months. The Rebels also left at Koraye, their Guns which they had at Barodia.

The Troops behaved at Barodia with discipline and courage, keeping in very bad ground their formation and obeying with eager alacrity any orders which brought them closer to the Enemy. The 3rd Europeans, although very young and now for the first time in the Field, have qualified themselves for a career of honor; and Lieutenant-Colonel Liddell is sure to lead the way.

I am much obliged to Captain Wood, my Assistant Adjutant General and my Staff, for the assistance which they gave me on this occasion as well at Rathghur, and I ought to add that the Officers of my Divisional Staff, whose duties are non-combatant, still in their zeal, accompany me to the Field. Captain Campbell, Baggage Master, who was hit, was very useful and intelligent in conveying my orders, and Lieutenant Lyster, my Interpreter, of the 72nd Regiment Bengal Native Infantry, was wounded when engaging the nephew of Mahomed Fazil Khan whom he killed.

I have the honor to enclose a list of the Casualties at Barodia, as also a list of Sappers and Miners, whom Major Boileau, Commanding Engineer, wishes to be mentioned for having inspected the ditch and the breach of the Fort of Rathghur.

TO THE SECRETARY TO GOVERNMENT.

Adjutant General's Office,
Bombay, 17th March 1858.

IN continuation of my previous communications Nos. 2133 and 2288, dated respectively the 9th and 13th instant, I am directed by the Commander-in-Chief to transmit, for submission to the Right Honorable the Governor in Council, the enclosed letter, (without date,) from Major General Sir Hugh Rose, K.C.B., Commanding Central India Field Force, detailing his proceedings subsequent to the capture of the Fort of Rathghur and Action with the Insurgents near the Town of Barodia.

2. The operations of Sir Hugh Rose in the Field, while they have the cordial approval of the Commander-in-Chief, will doubtless be most satisfactory to His Lordship in Council, as the success which has attended them must have the most beneficial effect in tranquillizing a District which has been so long in the hands of the Rebels.

4. The Major General will be directed to constitute a Court of Inquiry under the provisions of Act 273 Section XXXIX of Jameson's Code, with the view of ascertaining if the Native Officer and men alluded to in the 18th and 14th paragraphs of his Despatch are entitled to admittance to the distinction of the Order of Merit.

BOARD OF REVENUE ;
Fort William,
The 24th September 1859. }

Rules for the grant of waste lands in the Darjeeling Territory.

I. Grants of waste lands in the Darjeeling Territory shall be sold by auction at an upset price of ten Rupees an acre.

II. Sales of grants of waste lands shall be made from time to time at the Office of the Superintendent of Darjeeling, on application for that purpose by intending purchasers, in such manner and under such rules as may be laid down for that purpose by the Board of Revenue, full and sufficient notice of the day of sale and other needful particulars being given to the Public. Should it in any case be deemed inexpedient to grant the land applied for, the Superintendent shall refer such case with his reasons for deeming the grant inexpedient, for the orders of the Board.

III. Every grant proposed to be sold shall first have its boundary cleared, and its area determined by an Officer appointed for that purpose by the Superintendent. "A sum necessary in the opinion of the Superintendent to defray the expense of clearing the boundary and determining the area of a grant shall be deposited by the applicant, and the expense so incurred shall be added to the amount of the highest bid for the grant when put up to auction and shall be paid by the purchaser."

IV. No grant shall be sold of less than fifty acres.

V. A purchaser at auction of such grant or grants shall make a deposit, at the time of purchase, of ten per cent. on the amount of purchase money.

VI. The balance of the purchase money shall be paid in annual instalments of ten per cent. on the amount of purchase money, and in default of such payment, the sale shall be considered void, the deposit and any prior payments of instalments being forfeited to Government, and the Government shall be at liberty to re-sell the land on its own account.

VII. The Government reserves to itself the right of making and constructing such roads and bridges as may be necessary for public purposes in all lands purchased as above, and also to such indigenous timber, stone and other materials, as may be required for making and keeping the said roads and bridges in repair. Land taken for these purposes shall be paid for at the rates at which it was purchased, by refund of the money paid for it, and compensation shall be granted when claimed for any damage done to the plantation in the construction of the works.

VIII. The sale shall convey a title to all mines and minerals within the limits of the grant sold. But a tax not exceeding ten per cent. of the gross produce of such mines and minerals shall be leviable by the Government in such manner and under such rules as may hereafter from time to time be determined on.

IX. Existing grants may be commuted under these rules at the option of the grantees.

X. "Grantees of lands let out on building leases may commute at the rate of twenty years' purchase of their annual rent."

Rules for the grant of waste lands in the Darjeeling Territory.

I. Grants of waste lands in the Darjeeling Territory shall be sold by auction at an upset price of ten Rupees an acre.

II. Sales of grants of waste lands shall be made from time to time at the Office of the Superintendent of Darjeeling, on application for that purpose by intending purchasers, in such manner and under such rules as may be laid down for that purpose by the Board of Revenue, full and sufficient notice of the day of sale and other needful particulars being given to the Public. Should it in any case be deemed inexpedient to grant the land applied for, the Superintendent shall refer such case, with his reasons for deeming the grant inexpedient, for the orders of the Board.

III. Every grant proposed to be sold shall first have its boundary cleared, and its area determined by an Officer appointed for that purpose by the Superintendent. "A sum necessary in the opinion of the Superintendent to defray the expense of clearing the boundary and determining the area of a grant shall be deposited by the applicant, and the expense so incurred shall be added to the amount of the highest bid for the grant when put up to auction and shall be paid by the purchaser."

IV. No grant shall be sold of less than fifty acres.

V. A purchaser at auction of such grant or grants shall make a deposit, at the time of purchase, of ten per cent. on the amount of purchase money.

VI. The balance of the purchase money shall be paid in annual instalments of ten per cent. on the amount of purchase money, and in default of such payment, the sale shall be considered void, the deposit and any prior payments of instalments being forfeited to Government, and the Government shall be at liberty to re-sell the land on its own account.

VII. The Government reserves to itself the right of making and constructing such roads and bridges as may be necessary for public purposes in all lands purchased as above, and also to such indigenous timber, stone and other materials, as may be required for making and keeping the said roads and bridges in repair. Land taken for these purposes shall be paid for at the rates at which it was purchased, by refund of the money paid for it, and compensation shall be granted when claimed for any damage done to the plantation in the construction of the works.

VIII. The sale shall convey a title to all mines and minerals within the limits of the grant sold. But a tax not exceeding ten per cent. of the gross produce of such mines and minerals shall be leviable by the Government in such manner and under such rules as may hereafter from time to time be determined on.

IX. Existing grants may be commuted under these rules at the option of the grantees.

OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR-GENERAL } OF THE POST OFFICE IN INDIA, }
January 1st, 1859.

The following Conditions are to be observed in sending Book-Packets by Post:—

1st.—The Postage must be pre-paid in full, by means of Postage Stamps affixed outside the Packet on its cover.

2nd.—Every Packet must be sent either without a cover, or in a cover open at the ends or sides, so as to admit of the enclosures being removed for examination.

3rd.—The Packet may contain any number of separate books or other publications, prints, or maps, and any quantity of paper, parchment or vellum (to the exclusion, however, of letters whether sealed or open) and the books or other publications, prints, maps, &c., may be either printed, written or plain, or any mixture of the three. Further, all legitimate binding, mounting, or covering of a book, publication, &c., or of a portion thereof, will be allowed, whether such binding, &c. be loose or attached; as also rollers in the case of prints or maps, markers (whether of paper or otherwise) in the case of books; and in short whatever is necessary for the safe transmission of literary or artistic matter or usually appertains thereto.

4th.—The Packet must not contain any letter, closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor must there be any letter, or any communication of the nature of a letter, written or printed in any such Packet or on its cover. Entries, however, merely stating who sends the book, &c., or to whom it is given, are not regarded as a letter.

5th.—No Book-Packet can be received if it exceeds two feet in length, width, or depth.

6th.—Any Packet which shall not be open at the ends or sides, or shall have any letter or any communication of the nature of a letter written or printed in it or upon its cover will be charged with Letter Postage.

7th.—If a Packet be found to contain any letter, whether closed or open, or any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, or any other unauthorized enclosure, the letter or enclosure will be taken out and forwarded to the address on the Packet, charged with full Postage as an unpaid letter together with an additional Book-rate; that is, with the Postage chargeable on a Book weighing not more than half a lb the remainder of the Packet, if duly pre-paid with Stamps, will then be forwarded to its address.

8th.—If a Packet be not sufficiently pre-paid with Stamps but nevertheless bear Stamps equal to a single Book-rate, it will be forwarded charged with the deficient Book-Postage together with an additional Book-rate; but any Packet which shall not bear Postage Stamps equal to a single Book-rate will be detained and charged with the Letter Postage.

9th.—No Book-Packet weighing more than three lbs can be sent to or from the East Indies or to New South Wales.

10th.—The Colonial Book-Post extends to those Colonies only which are so marked in the Table of Colonial and Foreign Postage.

11th.—In no case can a Book-Packet be sent to the Colonies (except at the letter rate of Postage,) through a Foreign Country.

SPECIAL Notice is directed to the subjoined Clauses of Rules, the want of attention to which has occasioned the Post Office much inconvenience.

2nd.—A separate instruction will be required for every change of address, and no instruction will be attended to for more than three months after its receipt.

3rd.—Under Section XXIII., of Act XVII. of 1854, Forward Postage will be charged in addition to all other Postage due or paid thereon upon every letter without exception, which may be re-directed in any Post Office. For example, if a letter posted in Calcutta and addressed to Hooghly is, under instructions which may have been received from the addressee, re-directed in the Calcutta Post Office and sent to Barrackpore, Forward Postage will be charged in addition to the Postage which would have been due, had the letter been despatched to Hooghly according to its original address.

4th.—The practice of giving instructions to the Officers of the Post Office to intercept and re-direct letters, not only imposes much labor upon them, but in large Offices seriously retards the delivery and despatch of the Mails. A register of instructions regarding changes of address will be kept in every Post Office, but it must be understood, that it is impossible to guarantee that they shall be attended to, except in the case of letters received for delivery.

THERE is only one delivery of letters at the General Post Office on Sundays, and Banghy Parcels are neither received nor despatched on that day.

LETTERS and Newspapers despatched to and from the United Kingdom by private Vessels are liable to the following rates of Postage which must be pre-paid by Stamps:—

	Rs.	As.	Pie.
Letters not exceeding $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. in weight	0	4	0
Letters exceeding $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. but not exceeding 1 oz.	0	8	0

And so on adding 8 annas for each oz. or fraction thereof which includes Inland Postage.

Newspapers not exceeding 1 oz. in weight, 1½ or 9 pie must be pre-paid in cash, and no Inland Postage is required upon such papers.

Parcels conveyed by the above opportunity for the United Kingdom are liable to Letter rates of Postage.

Notice.

THE following Extract of an Order of the Government of India, No. 884, of the 13th July 1855:—

“No Public Officer is authorized to send Covers on the Public Service by Post, without payment of Postage, unless he is at the time on active duty and in charge of the Office by virtue of which the privilege is enjoyed. All letters superscribed as ‘on the Public Service only’ must, even though the Postage thereon be not paid, be received and opened by the Officer to whom they are addressed, but if any such, or partially paid letter so superscribed, and addressed to any Officer except a Secretary to Government be found when opened, to relate to the private affairs of the Sender, the Postage will be debited to him and he will be further liable to be dealt with under Section XLVII., Act No. XVII. of 1854.

His Honor in Council further directs that unpaid or insufficiently paid letters addressed to any such Officer or Department and not superscribed “on the Public Service only” be refused, or if opened that it be at the risk and cost of the opener.”

LETTERS arriving at the Presidency Towns, by Mail Steamers will be immediately sorted for delivery according to the address alone, without any reference to instructions which may have been received regarding change of address; such changes will be left to be discovered by the Delivery Officers, and be corrected in the forward and unclaimed Departments of the Office.

Forward Postage will be charged in addition to all other Postage due or paid thereon, upon every letter, without exception, which may be re-directed in the Post Office.

Letters, &c., received by the Steamer will be delivered at the Window of the Post Office only to parties who have registered their names. Applications to the Post Office on the day of the Steamer's arrival to intercept and re-direct letters, &c., cannot be attended to, as they are found not only to impose much labour but seriously retard the delivery and despatch of the Mails.

ALL Banghy Parcels being registered before despatch it is needless to have a Banghy Parcel specially registered by payment of the Fee of 4 annas as no additional precaution can be taken of a specially Registered Parcel which is not taken in the case of every ordinary Banghy Parcel.

UNDER the orders of Government, no fourth delivery of letters by the Post Office is allowed. Mails which are received by Steamers from Suez at so late an hour in the day as not to admit of the letters being taken out for delivery by 6 P. M. are detained till the following morning, but parties who have registered their names under the usual fee, are entitled to receive their letters and Marseilles Newspapers so soon as the Mails are sorted, and which is generally about 2½ hours after receipt of the Mail, at the Post Office.

THE exemption allowed to Officers with the Army from the charge of Forward Postage on re-directed letters has been continued by the Governor-General "until further orders."

Forward Newspapers.—Extra or Forward Postage is chargeable on every Newspaper re-directed at the Post Office of original address and forwarded to another Post Office.

MAILS for Akyab, Rangoon, and Moulmein are made up on the 3rd and 19th of each month, for transmission by the Contract Steamers or by Government Vessels, which sail on the morning of the 4th and 20th, unless the Contractors choose to postpone the departure for 48 hours, of which they have the power on making a requisition.

THE OFFICIAL GAZETTE.

SUPPLEMENT TO

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1859.

No. 1382.

Fort William, Military Department.

THE 8TH OCTOBER 1859.

In General Orders by the Government of India, No. 883, dated the 20th of June 1859, the Soldiers of Her Majesty's European Forces in India were thus informed:—
“The representations of the men, as recorded by the Courts of Enquiry assembled for this purpose at Meerut and other Stations, will be transmitted for the consideration of Her Majesty's Government. But the Viceroy and Governor General in Council distinctly announce, that he is not authorized to hold out any hope that the Government of Her Majesty will recede from the decision to which it has already come, in regard to re-enlistment and bounty.
“The offer of discharge now determined upon will be made under arrangements to be ordered by the Commanders-in-Chief respectively at the three Presidencies; and the decision of every man who elects to remain in the Service is to be entered in the Regimental Records, and will be considered final.”

The reference to Her Majesty's Government promised in the first of the foregoing paragraphs was made without delay.

Meanwhile a Despatch, dated the 18th August 1859, No. 274, was received from the Secretary of State for India, in which, with reference to the earlier proceedings of Courts of Enquiry which had been transmitted by Government, it is observed as follows:—

“These letters contain further details of the circumstances reported in your No. 217, 27th June 1859.
“Military Despatch No. 66, in reply* to which the general views of Her Majesty's Government were indicated, and a full discretion was given you to adopt such measures as, under the varying aspect of the movement among the Local European Troops, you may have deemed most conducive to the public interests.

“The papers which you have subsequently forwarded have proved, incontestably, the prevalence of the feeling of dissatisfaction among the men, and in most instances the sincerity of their conviction. (mistaken though it was,) that their engagement to serve as Soldiers in India had terminated with the existence of the East India Company.”

3. The Secretary of State has now replied to the reference in the following passages of a Despatch, No. 302, dated the 31st of August 1859. Military Department. In acknowledging the receipt of your letter No. 90, in the Military Department, dated 24th June last, but which did not reach me till the 11th August, I have to convey to you the full approval of Her Majesty's Government of the measures which you have taken in granting the option of discharge and free passage home to those European Soldiers of the Local Army to whom the General Order issued by you on the 20th of June 1859 is applicable.

“The results of the Courts of Enquiry held at the several Stations of the Army have clearly established the prevalence of the conviction amongst the European Soldiers, that they had a right to an option in regard to the transfer of their services from the East India Company to the Crown.

“The instructions conveyed in my Despatch* gave you full powers to act in such manner as you might judge best for the good of the Public Service.”

“No. 217, June 27th 1859.
“The course which you have taken in pursuance of the discretion so entrusted to you is entirely approved.”

4. The Governor-General in Council, in publishing these communications, desires to express his firm conviction that the men of Her Majesty's Indian Forces who have with much good sense, and with a steadiness which does them the highest credit effected to continue in the honorable Service of Her Majesty, will, by a faithful and complete observance of their duty, continue to maintain the high character which they have already won by their exemplary behaviour in quarters, and their devoted gallantry in the field.
